Friends and Co-Workers Meet
With the Retiring Secretary at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

A farewell service was held for Mr. H. E. Coleman, retiring secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon at the Young Men's Christian Association hall. Rev. Silas Perry opened the service with a brief address complimentary to the earnestness and fidelity of Mr. Coleman, and the splendid success of the work under his direction for the past four years.

Mr. Coleman then addressed the congregation, taking as his text the verse "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that need not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of Truth." Second Timothy, 2:15. This verse, he said, had always been his favorite motto and encouragement, and he believed it was the keynote to all successful work in the field of Christianity. He particularly emphasized the admonition of the text to study; he believed that God does not want perfunctory helpers, and that there was a grave doubt in his mind as to whether a helper who did not study was ever worth very much; that to be an efficient laborer in Christian work one must be continually studying; studying the methods of the disciples, and of the Great Laborer himself; studying the Bible and interpreting its truth; studying how to interest people in the work, and studying how to hold the interest of those who lagged. He said that not only in religious work was it necessary to study, but that unless a clerk, or employee in business, closely studies the methods and interests of his work, he is not worth much to his employer. Applying these ideas to the association work, he appealed to the members present to study the great work of saving souls; not to be self-centered, but to keep wide-awake to the work of others, and to co-operate and go forward in a great phalanx. He said that soldiers would accomplish very little did they not unite into armies, and though there was much individual work for each one to do, that must not hinder them working heartily and forcefully together, for if they did not co-operate, the individual effort would be largely lost. In conclusion he said that he wished to impress upon the minds of the members of the association the worth of the verse he had quoted, and that he would leave it to them as his parting admonition.

After Mr. Coleman's address, Mr. Cooke, vice president of the association, made a speech of appreciation and regret, complimenting Mr. Coleman upon his successful work during the past four years, and tendering him the good wishes of the members. He also emphasized the farewell service of the retiring secretary, and said that Mr. Coleman himself, was a splendid exemplification of the text.

Rev. G. L. Pearson, of the Methodist Church, and Rev. A. E. Cory, of the Christian Church, followed, and in like spirit expressed their regret at the departure of the efficient secretary. Both said that the fidelity, faithfulness and devotion of Mr. Coleman to his work might serve to illustrate the truth of the text that had been presented to them. Mr. Theo. Richards added that Mr. Coleman, to the last, had been faithful to his work, and instead of taking up the time with farewells, had given them a last helpful lesson. Mr. W. C. Weedon and Mr. W. W. Hall also spoke in testimony of their appreciation of Mr. Coleman, both personally and as a co-worker, and Mr. Coats, the physical instructor of the association, echoed the sentiment. A number of members of the association followed, all speaking highly of Mr. Coleman, and expressing their appreciation of his work.

The Kamehameha Boys' Glee Club were present, and sang several sacred hymns. The meeting closed with a prayer offered by Mr. Coleman.

AN UNFAITHFUL WIFE.

Manoel da Costa Daniel Asks for a Divorce.

Manoel da Costa Daniel, of Honolulu, has filed a libel of divorce in the Circuit Court against his wife Maria dos Anjos Daniel, charging his wife with statutory offenses. The parties were married at Wailua, May 11, 1893, and have until lately resided in Kahuku. The husband charges that his wife has been unfaithful to him at many times and places, and more particularly from on or about April 1, 1901, up to about April 15. The libellant has not forgiven these acts. The three children of the couple, the husband asks to have placed in his custody, and he alleges his wife is not a fit or proper person to have control of them. He asks for an absolute divorce.

LEGISLATOR TO WED.

Kumulae Will Be Married During Extra Session.

Tuesday fortnight will find, at all events, one Representative absent from his seat in the lower house. Jonah Kumulae will be the absentee, and the occasion will be a momentous one in the legislator's career. The sergeant at arms will look in vain for Jonah on the 28th instant, and the minority will seek his vote in hopelessness, for 'twill "be his wedding morning." True it is that the ceremony of uniting Mr. Kumulae with the chosen partner of his joys, Miss Lena Ahana, has been announced for the evening of that date, in order that the fellow members of the groom may be able to attend in a body, but it is hardly to be expected that Kumulae will be in the humor or condition to listen to the dry statistics of committee reports.

Rumor says that a subscription for a wedding present of suitable proportions is already circulating among the throne room occupants, and that an ardent reception will be accorded the blushing bridegroom on his first appearance after his nuptials.

Their Old Desks Are Wanted.

There is a great scramble to secure the old desks used in the House of Representatives, which are to be sold before Congress reassembles. Nearly 300 of the 357 members of the House have filed applications with Clerk McDowell to secure the desks they occupied during the last Congress. Each member has announced his willingness to pay whatever price is necessary to obtain his desk. Clerk McDowell will fix the proper price by selling the unreserved desks at public auction. An average of the prices brought will be made, and each member can get the desk at which he sat during the Fifty-sixth Congress by paying the sum thus fixed.

NO LOSS OF TIME.

I have sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for years, and would rather be out of coffee and sugar than it. I sold five bottles of it yesterday to threshers that could go no farther, and they are at work again this morning.—H. R. Phelps, Plymouth, Oklahoma. As will be seen by the above, the threshers were able to keep on with their work without losing a single day's time. You should keep a bottle of this remedy in your home. WANTS DIVORCE
FROM A LEPER

Native Woman Wishes to Be Free From Man Who Cannot Be Cured

Kalani Noholua (w.) has filed a libel for divorce in the First Circuit Court against her husband, David Noholua, as he is hopelessly afflicted with Chinese leprosy, and held at the leper settlement. She states that she was married to David on December 15, 1878, at Waimanalo. They cohabited together as man and wife for nineteen years, residing during that period in Honolulu.

In the early part of 1897 the husband contracted the disease known as Chinese leprosy, and in December of that year he was seized and taken as a leper to the branch hospital or receiving station for lepers at Kalihi, Honolulu, and later on was removed to the leper settlement, and has been there ever since.

The wife alleges that the husband is incapable of cure. He has no property whatsoever, either real or personal, nor any income whereby the said libellant could be provided with the necessities of life, and to obtain such, since the removal of her husband, the wife has depended solely upon her own exertions, labor and services to obtain livelihood. She asks for an absolute decree of divorce from her leper husband.

Hitting his pa: Wicked Willie—"Paw, I wuz good yesterday and went to Sunday-School, when Tommy wanted me to go to Schmeer Park and see the monkey in a cage. Ain't you goin' to give me somethin' fer it. Paw—"No, my son; you should be good because it is right to be good." Wicked Willie—"Ah, gwon; didn't you tell me the last time you liked me that you didn't want your little boy to grow up good fer nothin'?"—Montreal Star.

A new jungle story: The lioness—"I hope it won't hurt your feelings, dear, but the report is being circulated that your husband is a man-eater." The tigress (sorrowfully) "Alas! I have good reasons for thinking that it's only too true." The lioness—"Yes? What aroused your suspicions? The tigress—"Four or five times, lately, I've caught the smell of tobacco on his breath."—Town Topics.
